

GLOBAL POPULISM

LECTURE SERIES 2017-18 FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

THE END OF THE END OF HISTORY

*Kim Lane Scheppelle,
Princeton University*

*October 2, 2017
3-4:30pm | Smith 140*

THE NEW MINORITY: WHITE WORKING CLASS POLITICS IN THE TRUMP ERA

*Justin Gest,
George Mason University*

*October 11, 2017
7-8:30pm | Trabant Theater*

RODRIGO DUTERTE & POPULISM IN THE PHILIPPINES

David Timberman, Independent Scholar

*October 25, 2017
3-4:30pm | Smith 140*

UNDERSTANDING POPULIST GOVERNANCE IN LATIN AMERICA

*Julio Carrión,
University of Delaware*

*November 13, 2017
3-4:30pm | Alison Hall 227*

HOW NOT TO THINK ABOUT POPULISM

*Jan-Werner Müller,
Princeton University*

*February 13, 2018
4:30-6:00pm | Location TBA*

ATTENTION DEFICITS: WHY POPULISM SHOULD NOT BE A SURPRISE

*Mabel Berezin,
Cornell University*

*March 15, 2018
Time & Location TBA*

TRUMP, NATIONALISM & POPULISM IN THE U.S.

Bart Bonikowski, Harvard University

*May 3, 2018
3:00-4:30pm | Trabant Theatre*

Titles and times subject to change; check the calendar at www.cgas.udel.edu for latest details.

This series is co-sponsored by Journalism Program; College of Arts & Sciences-Humanities; Center for Political Communication; School of Public Policy & Administration; and Departments of Anthropology; English; History; Languages, Literatures & Cultures; Political Science & International Relations; and Sociology & Criminal Justice

Center for Global & Area Studies

COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES